We can see the equipment and personnel that produce a newspaper and we can see the newspaper. But its service to the community and surrounding area is more difficult to discern.

This thought comes to us on the eve of National Newspaper Week and our unsophisticated plans for a tour of The Herald's facilities Friday.

100 — 100 — 100

Like many service institutions, a newspaper is a paradox. The end result is some folded pieces of paper which can influence the turn of an area's history. This could be termed a service. Yet behind those pieces of paper with all the symbols and pictures is a manufacturing process. One we see; one we only experience.

The importance of newspapers to an area can best be measured by their absence. A case in point is the near news blackout experienced in New York City last winter when delivery unions were on strike.

About 11 million people scrambled for every newspaper obtainable, foreign language dailies, New England papers and magazines. The Dallas News even flew copies to New York for newstand sale. And they sold.

100 — 100 — 100

It was not the dramatic, vital news that people missed most. It was the news and ads, pure and simple, about every conceivable subject of interest to people.

And perhaps there is a newspaper's real value. It offers a timely chronicle of the vital and not so vital, the earth shaking and the trivial.

It is the newspaper's acute interest in everyone that places its service in a unique community role.

Your newspaper plods; your newspaper races ahead of its time. But it works for you, the public. We cannot take the YOU out of a newspaper.

Injured Recovering From Car Accident

Frank Slavik, Jr., George Burwick and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mikulec, Sr., are all recovering from injuries suffered in a two-car collision Sunday.

Hospital officials at Newton Hospital said that Mr. and Mrs. Mikulec are off the critical list while Slavik and Burwick are much improved.

Cars driven by Slavik and Mikulec collided in a collision Sunday on the new Marfa-Cameron farm-to-market road.

Drivers Meet

School Buys Bus

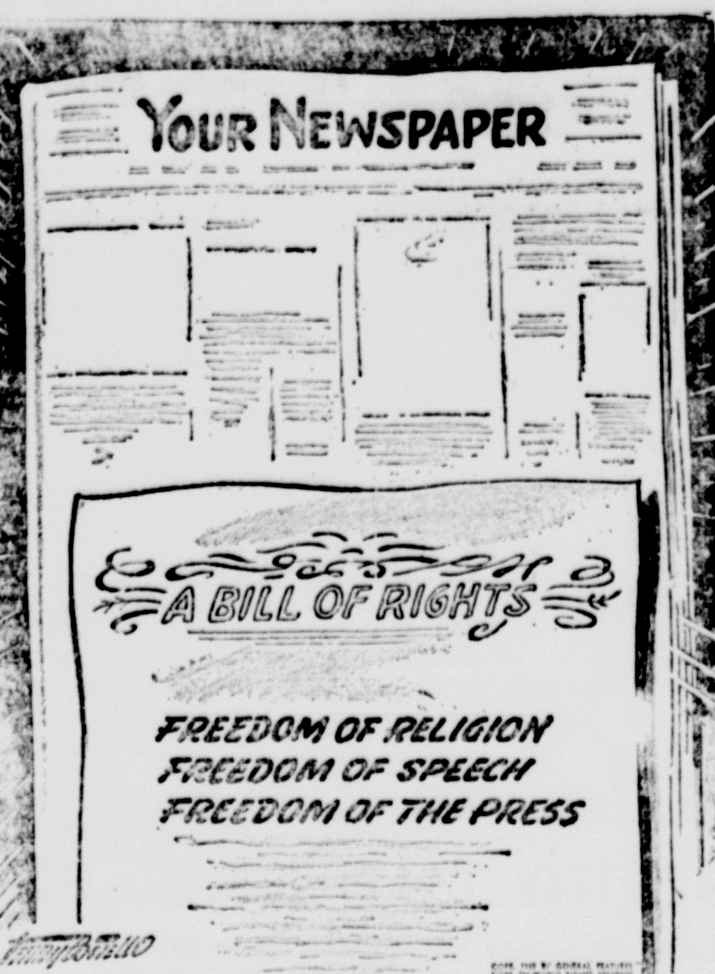

The Cameron School Board Thursday night voted to purchase a 60 - passenger school bus and to transfer interest earned in two school funds either into local maintenance or building funds.

Board members met with bus drivers of the 12 public school buses and discussed ways to economize on bus maintenance costs. The new bus to be purchased through Texas school channels will cost about $5500.

The school replaced tires on four school buses and planned to check the remaining buses for possible replacement of present tires with those replaced by new ones.

Supt. Wiley Loughmiller said that delinquent tax notices through 1958 have been sent out, totaling about $9,500.

Board vice - president appointed Dr. David Shapiro and W. F. Vogelsang to serve on a panel in a meeting with Cameron Parent - Teachers Association November 10. The board also approved work-

Cotton Bale Counts Reaches 15,898 As Season Grows Old

Early week rains slowed cotton picking somewhat, but the county bale count still reached toward the 16,000 mark.

P. W. Davis, manager of the Cameron Compress, has reported that 15,898 bales of Milam Cotton have been ginned since the first of the season.

The total compared to 13,292 bales reported the same time a week ago.

Rains slowed cotton harvesting early this week through the heavy season is about over, Davis said.

Rains to lowland cotton last week was set at about 500 bales after Little River and other Milam County tributaries left their streambeds the previous weekend.

It was thought last week that another 2,000 bales would complete the crop, but more than 2,500 bales were ginned in the past week.

Monday night is the last night to sign up for an adult extension course at Yoe High School.

Dr. Pat Norwood will meet interested students 6 p. m. Monday at YHS. The adult extension course is offered through the co-operation of Southwest Texas State College, San Marcos.

Study under the present plan can be applied both for graduate and under graduate credit, Dr. Norwood said.

An invitation to interested clubs, youth groups and individuals is cordially extended, Publisher Frank Luecke said.

Demonstrations will be given on setting up ads, pages of the newspaper and a press run on The Herald's Miehle newspaper press.

Other equipment demonstrations will show visitors the use of high-speed production equipment in type - casting and line - setting, press runs and other techniques both in newspaper and graphic arts work.

The tour will include demonstration of the use of various types of pictures and artwork in Herald pages.

It is the first time in recent Herald history that a public tour has been planned in The Herald shop.

One demonstration of interest will be a comparison of the old, intermediate and newest methods of graphic arts reproduction in The Herald's printing department.

City Sells Lot To Waco Firm, Tests Loader

The City Council in a special session Monday sold a city lot on US 77 east to the Seven Up Bottling Co., Waco for construction of a Milam County warehouse.

The Waco firm was high bidder with a $2,450 bid, about $400 higher than the next entry. The city took bids on the site about a year ago, but rejected all bids when the highest was about $1,200.

In other city activity, a front-load tractor is being demonstrated in the City Dump this week during the city's fall clean-up drive.

Public Works Supt. John Earle said that the drive netted several hundred loads of debris in the cleanup, but considerably less than the near 700 loads last spring.

He is directing fill and excavation operations in the dump area to make way for a better system of burying trash and garbage.

The city meanwhile is considering the purchase of the one and one-half yard loader and a dump truck. Already in the budget is money for the purchase of an additional garbage truck. The load unit is already purchased.

Cameron Show Impresses Fans From Bellville

The reception given a train-load of Bellville grid fans Friday night has brought a letter of appreciation from the Bellville School superintendent.

A special football train bearing 470 grid fans came to Cameron last Friday night for the Bellville - Cameron game. Cameron had taken 600 fans to Bellville in 1958 on a Jaycee special train.

Supt. Otto Longlois, Bellville schools, thanked Supt. W. Loughmiller for the Cameron schools' transportation of the Bellville fans by bus from the Santa Fe Station to Yoe Field and back.

Longlois also commended the halftime performance which included floats from all four Yoe High School classes and a float entered by the Cameron Quarterback Club.

The letter also commended the Cameron Chamber of Commerce for its reception.

"Only hard work and originality could have made this performance so outstanding," Longlois said of the Homecoming halftime showing.

Belton, Yoemen To Meet Friday

Cameron's Yoemen go to Belton tomorrow night for the big game of the year with the vaunted "Big Red" Tigers.

Kickoff time for the top 18AA game of the year will be 8 p. m. at Tiger Field.

Coch Jim Speer's Yoemen will be hoping for an upset victory over injury - riddled Belton. He told Cameron Quarterbacks Monday night that the rugged contest with Belton will be the biggest challenge for his club.

Cameron fell victim to fumbles against Belton last week, but showed an improved power offense that gained big chunks of yardage against the Brahmas.

The Tigers will be without the service of Anton Moy, first-string fullback and Richard Inman, a star end. There is a possibility also that halfback David Beerwinkle will be out with a bad ankle.

Speer said these injuries are critical to the Big Red and gives the winless Yoemen a good chance to upset the state's second-ranked AA squad.

Last year Cameron and Belton battled to a scoreless tie, but Belton won the district title on penetrations, 2-1. The Tigers have returned with substantially the same team.

Cameron's lineup will probably be Chris Gay at quarterback, Ernest Bayer at fullback and Carroll Fikes and Ed Liernan at halfbacks. The front line will go with about the same starting lineup of the Belville game.

Speer reported no key injuries though workouts this week have been heavier than during the whole year.

Winner of the Belton - Cameron contest will almost be assured of the 18-AA championship. The other three squads, Rosebud, Rogers and Hearne, have not indicated any strength in previous games this fall.

Bayer narrowly squeaked past McGregor last week, 14-9, scoring the winning touchdown the last 36 seconds of the game.

Chamber Plans Rat Elimination Drive Next Week

The Cameron Chamber's health and sanitation committee is conducting a fall rat extermination drive next week, October 19 - 24, according to Manager Richard Moseley.

Rat bait will be placed in all business establishments, churches, schools and other public buildings free of charge, Moseley said, through the efforts of the County Health Unit and the U. S. Wildlife Dept.

County Samaritan D. S. Wimberly will supervise the emplacement of bait in public and private institutions in a drive similar to the spring rat extermination drive.

Dr. S. H. Richardson, chairman of the Chamber committee, said that residents of the city may obtain the rat poison at cost at the Chamber office in downtown Cameron during the drive.

Richardson said complete rat eradication can only be accomplished if those in the residential area join in the fight against rat Moseley urged all owners and occupants of buildings in Cameron to take advantage of the free service.

"Rats destroy tremendous amounts of property by gnawing on electrical wire insulation and leaving debris in destroying other property," he said.

Main purpose of the drive is to eliminate the possibility of the spread of disease, he emphasized. Now is a good time to curb the rat population while they try to head for winter cover.

Contacts Begin In Community, Cameron Areas

The annual drive of the North Milam United Fund begins today in Cameron for a goal of $10,700 in an all-out effort to complete this area's goal for the first time.

Workers in the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis Clubs will contact Cameron businesses while other groups will contact residents of Cameron and North Milam County communities.

Dividing line between the North and South Milam Fund drives is the Little River. The South Milam drive is being launched simultaneously for about a $15,000 goal.

Seven Agencies

Seven agencies are participating in the united drive. Amounts designated and the agencies are: Red Cross, $3,100; Boy Scouts, $2,625; Girl Scouts, $1,350; Salvation Army, $1,125; Liberty Fund, $1,087.50; North Milam Charities, $750; Heart Fund, $100; and operating expenses, $562.50.

Drive Chairman Wayne Wieser said that donations to the fund can be made in one sum or on a pledge basis payable quarterly.

Co-chairman W. C. Wallace noted that donations to the North Milam United Fund can be designated to a specific participating fund or funds if the donor chooses. Each participating agency will receive a proportionate share of the total.

Fund President E. O. Schiller appealed for the wholehearted support of the North Milam drive in this year's effort to fulfill the $10,700 goal.

"A united contribution is the ideal way of contributing to worthwhile interests of North Milam Counties," Schiller told The Herald.

Series of Articles

He recently completed a series of articles in The Herald on the activities of the various funds in Milam County.

Wieser said that a $1.25 per capita gift would cover this year's requirements for North Milam County. Last year the average per capita gift was only 50 cents.

The drive will continue through October in conjunction with united fund drives across the nation.

Members serving on the drive committee are: Mrs. Bill Burns, Mrs. David Shapiro, Mrs. O. B. Harden, Bill Crockett, Charlie Burke, all of Cameron; Leon Brady Buckholts; the Rev. Gerald R. Cobb, Ben Arnold; and Bill Crennan, Burlington.

'60 Plymouth On Display Tomorrow At Duncum Mtrs

The 1960 Plymouth, which goes on display at Duncum Motors, Cameron tomorrow is the strongest, quietest, fastest accelerating and most economical operating car in Plymouth's history. It features unified body and frame structure and completely new styling.

Harry E. Chesebrough, vice-president of Chrysler Corporation and general manager of the Plymouth-DeSoto-Valiant division, says the 1960 Plymouth "creates new standards for its price class on any basis, on which you can compare automobiles."

He cited several innovations in body construction, engine design and the joining of the various assemblies to produce longer life, improved comfort, and a better fuel economy with even quicker performance and less maintenance added in the 1960 Plymouth line, each of uniquely different design and each developed to fulfill a specific requirement. The 36-D Economy Six is introduced for drivers who require maximum fuel savings. The SonoRamic Commando V-8 which brings ram induction to passenger cars for the first time, is primarily a "performance" engine with outstanding acceleration characteristics.

Plymouth's styling and sturdy construction, Chesebrough said, "should have special appeal to people whose basic interest is in solid value."

He listed these improvements which offer special benefits to owners:

1. Bodies are 100 percent stronger in resisting twist, and 40 percent stronger in resisting bending.

2. The Plymouth is built to have longer life, with fewer repair bills. In endurance tests, 1960 models withstood night and day driving almost four times longer than preceding models before showing comparable signs of wear.

3. Two ingeniously designed engines have been added to the line, one for buyers wanting maximum economy, the other for buyers wanting maximum performance.

4. The noise level inside the car has been reduced by 50 percent through new insulating procedures and a unique "turning" process to control vibration.

5. The cars are completely restyled, inside and out, for greater beauty and for improved driver and passenger comfort.

6. New manufacturing methods make the underbodies more resistant to rust and corrosion than ever before.

7. Mainly through the design of the car, advance testing indicates that buyers may expect to travel eight to ten miles farther on a tank of gas.

8. There are many new features, both standard and optional equipment, which are being offered in the Plymouth price class for the first time.

For 1960, the Plymouth body and frame are integrated into a single unified structure, locked together by more than 5,000 welds. The design affords many advantages in terms of both strength and space efficiency. The cars are easier to get into and out of, and seat heights have been raised for more comfort. The absence of connecting bolts and braces not only lends strength but eliminates rattles.

There is more extensive use of reinforced box-section members, and metal in the under-body area is of heavier gauge. The body is framed like a bridge truss, with sturdy box-section rails extending upward from the sills, along the sides of the roof over window openings, and downward at the rear to a solid foundation in the rear wheel housings.

THE 1960 PLYMOUTH is the quietest, accelerating, most economical car in Plymouth history. It features unified body and frame structure and completely new styling for this economy cham-

ion. Two completely new engines are added to the 1960 Plymouth line of six engines, each of different design and developed to fulfill a specific requirement.

Buckholts Installs 'Joplin Plan' For Grade Students

The "Joplin Plan", named after the plan in Joplin, Missouri, is being used in teaching reading in the Buckholts School this year.

This means that the child is allowed to read at his reading level, school officials said.

Grades three through eight are included in the plan. Instead of grades, there are five reading groups, each designated by the name of the teacher who teaches it.

In making up the groups, the achievement tests given last spring were used. The reading vocabulary and comprehension tests were averaged, and the children were grouped according to their reading abilities.

Officials said the grouping is flexible, as the child may move from one group to another. After six or nine weeks, a reading test will be given to determine if progress has been made.

If the results of the test, along with the teacher's opinion, show that the child should be moved up to the next reading group, he moves up.

Children trying to read above their level, now seem to enjoy reading, as it is not too difficult, and they can see that they are making progress, observers said. Faster readers are placed with a group where they can progress at their fastest rate.

Irrigated Acres Up On State Farms

A survey just completed by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service shows a continued increase in irrigated acreage in Texas. The irrigated area in June 1959 was 7,140,443 acres. Similar surveys in 1957 and 1955 showed an irrigated area of 6,962,234 and 6,208,022 acres, respectively.

The data in each survey was compiled from information furnished by county agents from each Texas county, according to Wayne Keese, extension agricultural engineer - irrigation.

Reports from the counties show that some irrigation is practiced in 239 of the State's 254 counties. An estimated 6,445,155 acres are irrigated by surface methods and 635,288 by sprinkler systems. Irrigation is used on 48,110 farms, and ground water supplies obtained from 60,708 wells are used on 5,914,753 acres, noted Keese.

Cotton is the leading irrigated crop with 2.2 million acres, and grain sorghum is second with just over two million acres. Wheat ranks third with 637,000. Other important irrigated crops are rice, 436,000 acres; vegetables, 375,000; and pastures, 200,000. Corn forage sorghum, alfalfa, oats and many other crops are produced on irrigated farms.

Irrigation did not expand as rapidly the last two years as in the previous two year period, probably because of more favorable rainfall, explained the specialists. The increase during a period of more favorable rainfall indicates an acceptance of irrigation by farmers as a sound management practice instead of simply an emergency practice to maintain production in drought periods.

Keese added that the growth of irrigation not only indicates the farmer's continuing effort to increase his production efficiency, but also demands continued emphasis on conservation and efficient use of one of our greatest natural resources - water.

Fenuron Pellets Kill Post Oaks

By J. D. Moore, County Agent

Fenuron pellets at the rate of 16 pounds per acre broadcast will kill Post Oak and Black Jack trees, at a cost of $16 for material and $2. per acre for application.

The demonstration on the Blackie Morgan place at Milano was treated in 1958. Trees on this plot are dead and the better grasses Bluestem, Indian and Sand Love grasses, are shoulder high. The pasture was not grazed during the growing season this year in order for the better grasses and legumes to make seed.

After the seed mature, the pasture can be grazed during the winter for dry grass. One of our most common errors in range improvement is the over - stocking of pasture and the failure to keep the cattle off at the time the better grasses are making seed.

COSTAL BERMUDA grass was observed on the E. A. Perrin place northwest of Cameron. Perrin has a 16-acre plot of coastal that has furnished adequate grazing for 26 head of grown cattle since March of this year. The grass was fertilized in the spring and fall.

Perrin also pointed out an area of mesquite trees that were killed by treating with kerosene oil. Mr. Perrin had previously tested 2, 4, 5 - T and oil for mesquite but felt that he got a better kill with straight kerosene. Mr. O. G.

Hoffman, range specialist from College Station, is of the opinion that possibly the soil was drier when the kerosene was applied. If the soil is dry, it pulls away from the base of the mesquite stump permitting the oil and chemicals to do a better job of penetration down around the underground buds of the mesquite.

Research recommends the use of 1 quart of 2, 4, 5-T to each 12 gallons of kerosene or diesel oil for mesquite control. This material should be poured in a fine stream around the base of the mesquite tree allowing the material to penetrate from 12 inches above ground level to 8 inches below ground level.

Dormant treatment of mesquite and shapparral was observed at the Barbee Barlett farm. Mesquite and shapparral were treated in early March with 2, 4, 5-T. Better use of available labor can be made by treating undesirable trees during the late winter and early spring season.

Cotton Nematodes

Soil fumigants have been successfully used to control root-knot nematodes on cotton, reports Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist. Smith says this pest is credited with the loss of 160,000 bales of cotton annually in the U. S.

Larks On Display At Rosenberg Mtrs

Two new Lark convertibles -- plus four new models of four-door station wagons -- highlight the 1960 Larks by Studebaker which go on display at Rosenberg Motors, Cameron today.

Addition of the convertibles and four-door wagons to Lark offerings rounds out the first complete line of body styles in the convenience-size car field.

In announcing the 1960 Larks, Harold E. Churchill, president of Studebaker-Packard Corporation, said: "Public enthusiasm for the Lark in its first year on the market prompted us to add new models which will give the buying public a choice of body styles in the convenience-size field previously found only in oversized car selections."

The new four-door Lark station wagon will be available in L-head six-cylinder and V-8 engine models in both Regal and Deluxe lines. The Lark convertible will become part of the Regal lines with either six or V-8 power plants.

Recalling his statement of a year ago that the Lark "has been designed deliberately to stay in style indefinitely," Churchill declared buyers resent their new car being made obsolete by each ensuing year's model. "For 1960," he said, "the Lark's distinctive features have been retained as promised, along with its minimum exterior dimensions and full-size interior roominess."

Churchill said the usually high popularity of the two-door Lark station wagons dictated the addition of the new four-door Lark wagons for 1960. Steadily rising industry sales of convertibles and the absence of a domestic convertible in the convenience size field were major factors in developing the newest Lark body style.

A new choice of colors will be offered throughout the Lark line for 1960. New nylon, acetate and vinyl fabrics and fresh, new interior designs harmonizing with exterior colors and trims will be standard on the new Lark's.

All Lark models, including the new convertibles, retain the shorter overall length (184.5" wagons, 175" all other) without useless interiors of 1953 Larks which nearly tripled Studebaker's 1953 sales. Additional rear legroom in 1960 Lark sedans and station wagons has been achieved through new front seat design.

As in 1959, the Lark four-door sedan is featured in all four model lines (Regal six and V-8, Deluxe six and V-8). The Deluxe six and V-8 engine lines each include two-door sedans and station wagons. The Lark two-door hardtop, like the new convertible, is featured in the Regal lines with either six or V-8 engines.

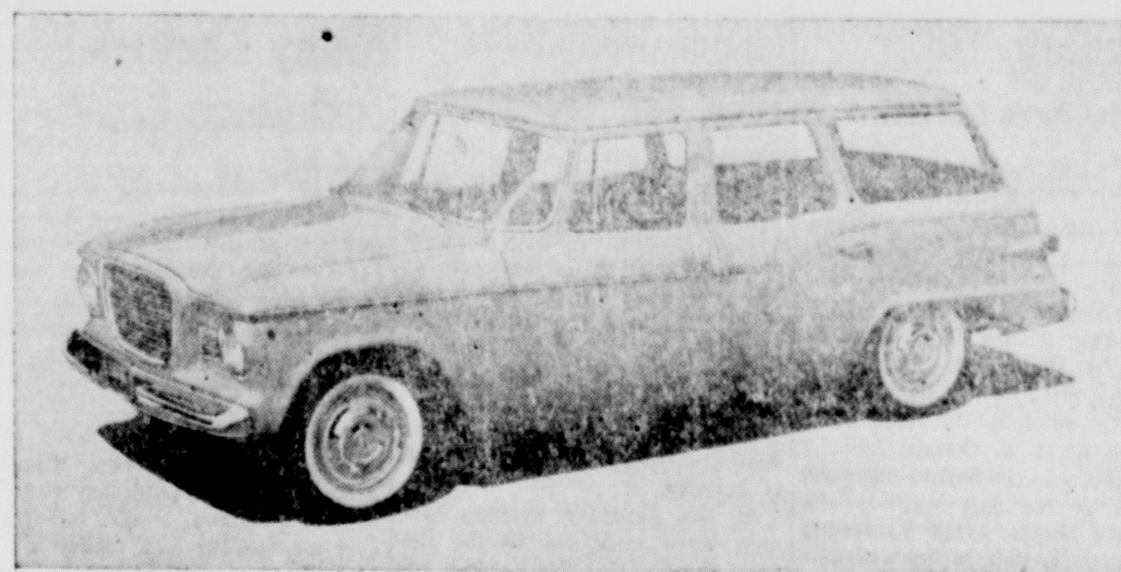

Optional equipment available on all 1960 Larks includes overdrive or Flightomatic transmission, Twin Traction differential, hill holder, reclining front seats and air conditioning.

Power steering is optional on all Lark V-8's. Power top is standard equipment on the Lark convertibles. Roof luggage carriers and rear-facing third seat are available for all Lark station wagons. Individually adjusted headrests are a new option in 1960 for all two-door models as well as all other models equipped with reclining seats.

Poultry Litter Necessary

Litter is an essential requirement for floor type poultry production. The cost of gambling on insufficient litter can be hazardous, says Ben Wormell, extension poultry extension husbandman.

Billy Don Davenport spent Friday night with Craig White.

A NEW STUDEBAKER model for 1960 is this Lark four-door station wagon, available with either a six-cylinder or V-8 engine. The new Lark station wagons feature newly-designed tailgates with greater glass area. They also have safety locks which securely hold the lifted tailgate doors and upper sections in place. Studebaker is offering a complete line of models including a V-8 and 6-cylinder convertible to meet all motorists 1960 needs.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

O. Henry would never have become a brilliant writer had he not gone to prison.

This is the belief of one who can remember the famous short story writer.

Mrs. Francis Maddox Massie of Austin was just a little girl but she recalls that Will Porter was fond of children and that he was a frequent visitor to her father's home. John Maddox was in the real estate business and he gave the young man a job. Maddox was so impressed with Porter's skill as an artist that he offered to provide the funds for him to study in Chicago, an offer which O. Henry did not accept, however.

When she was older, Frances Maddox was permitted to use the same typewriter in her father's office that O. Henry used. Mrs. Massie's belief is that O. Henry liked people too much ever to have become a writer in the ordinary course of events.

"He was always giving of himself to others -- his jokes, his smiles, his singing and conversation," Mrs. Massie declares.

The tragedy of the bank fund accusation, his conviction and his sentencing changed him completely and in prison he began really to write.

One reason that O. Henry visited the Maddox home was to talk to Mrs. Massie's uncle, John C. Duval, a hero of Goliad and author of two Texas classics, "Early Times in Texas" and "Adventures of Bigfoot Wallace." Duval made his home with Mrs. Massie's parents. She recalls that her uncle had a hammock in the yard. The hammock was rather high and he used a chair to climb into it. Bigfoot Wallace was a visitor to the Maddox home, too. Mrs. Massie remembers him as a large man, quite old, with the palsy. He insisted on chewing tobacco in bed, a practice which did not exactly meet with his hostess' approval.

Many Factors Influence Cost Of Meat, Eggs

COLLEGE STATION — How much does the American homemaker know about the real cost of the food she buys? About the comparative costs of "the eating portions" of main-dish meat and egg meals she serves her family?

P-TA officers said students of Ada Henderson and Ben Milam Schools will be contacting residents of Cameron. P-TA officials said all receipts and money will be handled by members so teachers will not have to take time from classroom duties.

When the homemaker goes to her favorite meat counter, she is influenced by price, family health-and-appetite appeal, menu variety and convenience, says F. Z. Beamblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist. She can see the prices listed per pound of poultry meat, other meats and per dozen eggs, but does she know what she really pays per pound for the cooked edible portions she places before her family at meal time?

For instance, says the specialist, when she buys certain cuts of meat like a chuck roast of beef that sells for 59 cents per pound, the cost of the cooked edible portion jumps to $1.51. Pork chops at 99 cents per pound end up on the table in terms of edible portions at a cost of $2.63 per pound. However, a choice broiler chicken that costs 40 cents per pound only goes to 89 cents per pound of cooked edible portions. Eggs do even better. A pound of large eggs — usually eight, since large eggs average 2 ounces each — at a purchase price of 50 cents per pound can be served broiled, fried or scrambled without the shell at slightly more than 56 cents per pound.

Why is there such a difference between the per-pound costs of meats and the per-pound cost of the edible portions? It's a matter of shrinkage from cooking and the amount of inedible bone and fat that wind up as waste, says the specialist.

Vital Statistics...

We would like to forward for consideration some of the vital statistics of Cameron's future as gleaned from the Community Development Survey of the Cameron Chamber.

Just a few random checks on such integral factors as age of population, birth and death trends and agriculture developments will show that modern civic growth or stability is inherently dependent on industry.

One of the vital conclusions developed by Texas Power & Light Co. after completing the study was: the value of farm products sold in Milam County is about half the value added by manufacturing.

Let's see why. First the survey shows that Milam County's basic agriculture economy has been losing population since 1900, a process accelerated in the post-WW II days. Cameron's population figure has gained almost proportionally to that loss.

From 1900 to 1950 is a good bracket for population comparisons. While Milam County reached a peak of about 40,000 in 1900, it since has declined to a present ebb of about 22,100. Meanwhile Cameron's population from 1900 (about 3,400) steadily rose to its current estimate of 7,500 in 1959.

This would mean that Cameron, bolstered by the Rockdale construction of Alcoa and Walled Lake Door, has been boosted by an influx of people from rural areas who, in part, are working in industrial jobs. Cameron's growth factor is a big 50 percent since 1950, from about 5,000 to the current 7,200 plus.

The birth rate of Milam County is considerably higher than the death rate. About 550 babies are born each year in Milam County, compared to about 275 deaths, averging the death-birth figures from 1937 to 1957.

This would suggest an increasingly younger population except for the age characteristics noted by U. S. Census figures.

In Milam County and Cameron about 13 percent of the population is over 64 while the younger age bracket from 25-14 is about 25 percent. The 45-64 bracket composes about 23 percent of both entities population. The remaining approximate 40 percent of county and city population is from 0-24 years of age.

In a study of farm size from 1929 to 1954, the average Milam County farm has grown from 89 acres to 185 acres, indicating that the number of farms is half though those remaining are twice as large.

These figures only emphasize the trend we have watched in recent years. It does not mean that agriculture is on the way out. To the contrary, well managed farm operations can become more profitable.

But these facts show that agriculture as a means of sparking a city's economy is negligible. It would show that industry can turn downward trends upward perceptibly in a short time.

Cameron can, by the evaluation of these and many other facts contained in the study, continue the growth cycle started by Alcoa after 1950 with further industrial development.

A modern economy requires it.

Sage Appreciates Knowledge That Some Quiz Folks Normal

Dear editor:

I'm not exactly a television fan, television programs don't turn up out here like newspapers, people can't hand you a television program like they can a newspaper, but nonetheless I manage to look at a few programs now and then and I was interested in reading in a newspaper I borrowed out of my neighbor's mail box yesterday that Congress has been investigating the giving shows which were so popular last year on television.

As I understand it, several contestants have testified that the quiz programs were rigged, that the answers were given to them before they went on the air.

Now this has struck some people as outrageous, they think something ought to be done to the television producers who worked such a fraud on the public.

I disagree with this attitude completely. Personally, I am very satisfied to learn that some of the contestants claim they were given the answers ahead of time.

I watched those people rattle off answers to almost impossible questions, week after week, and their vast store of knowledge was making people like you and me, at least me, feel inferior. It just wasn't human to have that many facts crammed in your head.

It's a pleasure to me to get this thing brought to light.

As for working a fraud on the public, that's an unpleasant thing, but let's not carry our outrage too far. Congress doesn't want to get too energetic about it. People demand a certain amount of fraud in their entertainment and possible in their politics. Nearly everybody knows the gunmen in TV westerns use blanks. Non Metro Drivers Get Road Savings

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — Rural and small town residents will have an advantage over their city cousins when the new auto insurance rating plan goes into effect Jan. 1.

Under the new system worked out by the State Board of Insurance, a driver's auto insurance premiums will be raised or lowered according to his driving record. Each accident or ticket for a moving traffic violation puts a "black mark" on the driver's record and moves his insurance premiums up a notch.

In the congested streets of the larger cities, one wrong move, even if unintentional, often brings a ticket or a crumpled fender or both. In most small towns, the local lawman is not usually too exercised if one of his friends and neighbors makes a U-turn on the main street.

Purpose of the plan is to put the biggest part of the burden for insurance payments on the people who bring on the most damage and expense. People who have a history of numerous traffic violations, according to Department of Public Safety statistics, are the ones who have the most accidents.

It is also hoped, of course, that the plan will encourage careful driving with its cash incentive.

Drivers with no record of an accident or violation for the past three years will get a 20 per cent reduction in their insurance rates. Drivers with one point against them will pay current rates.

Those with from one to five points against them will pay increased rates on a sliding scale, and those with six or more points will pay through the nose — double rates.

Some activities will be very expensive, point — wise. Drunken driving, hit — and — run driving and negligent homicide will cost four points. An accident with damage over $25 brings two points; running a red light, only one point.

In most cases, the effect of a violation on insurance premiums will hurt the pocket book worse than the usual fines.

STILL AT IT

For the umpteenth time, Texas' high — powered legal talent has gone to Washington to do battle for the state's tidelands before the United States Supreme Court.

Gov. Price Daniel and Atty. Gen. Will Wilson head the team presenting Texas' claim that it owns the submerged lands for three leagues — or nearly 10 miles — into the Gulf. Federal attorneys argue that the state owns the land only three miles out.

Former Supreme Court Justice James P. Hart and J. Chrys Dougherty, a former assistant attorney general, also went to Washington to join in the presentation.

Other Gulf Coast states which are "in the same boat" with Texas on the tidelands issue are also participating in the now historic struggle.

SAUNDERS ASKS RE-TRIAL

Former Insurance Commissioner J. Byron Saunders is asking for a new trial of the prejudice charges against him.

Saunders was convicted in an Austin district court and sentenced to two years in prison. He was accused of having lied to a legislative investigating committee as to why the now bankrupt ICT

Orthopedic Nurse Reviews Records At Health Unit

During September a good deal of activity has been carried on in the Crippled Children's field. Miss Imogene Smith, Orthopedic Nursing Consultant from the Crippled Children's Division of the Texas State Department of Health visited the Milam County Health Department for two days.

The records of the 52 children on active file in Milam County were reviewed and some home visits were made.

One male, colored, 7 year old child was found to be deaf and was admitted to the Texas Blind, Deaf and Orphan School in Austin.

One male patient returned from the tuberculosis hospital, with medical advice.

The Public Health Nurse and the School Nurse attended a Red Cross Staff Course in Rockdale.

Final plans for the fall school immunization program have been completed. Request slips have been returned and checked. Immunizations were started on September 30 at the St. Anthony, O. J. Thomas, Marak, and Buckholts schools.

The following communicable diseases were reported in Milam County during September: measles 12 cases, streptococcal infections 110 cases, mumps 3 cases, gonorrhea 3 cases, tuberculosis 3 cases, and one case of pneumonia.

Polio immunizations declined slightly with forty-five first shots given, forty-four second shots given, and 22 third shots given.

All school cafeterias in the area have been inspected for vermin and treatment was applied when evidence of roaches or rodents was found.

The Sanitarian assisted the Rockdale Chamber of Commerce in sponsoring and conducting a rodent control program in the residence section of Rockdale during the month. Reports indicate that the program was a success.

Recapturing the serenity of a time, long ago

Sometimes on a quiet street of a sequestered village, one can sense the tranquility of yesteryear's simple life and sturdy virtues. Today's pace is faster, its problems more complex, but the church, so esteemed by our forebears, can still contribute most importantly to our peace of mind. The church remains today as always, the keystone of happy, contented living.

St. Anthony's Set For Show Oct. 28

The St. Anthony's School carnival set for October 28 begins at 2:30 p.m. at Simon-George Hall, Cameron.

Teachers, children, mothers and the St. Anthony Parent-Teachers Club have been working for weeks making arrangements for the activities.

Barney McClaren is the Chairman heading the ticket sale committee. Mrs. David Shapiro is the chairman heading the food committee.

"We will have games for all to enjoy", says Mrs. Herman Hanel, president of the St. Anthony Parent-Teachers Club, "and we hope that we will have a large crowd to enjoy the fun."

Food to be for sale will be hot dogs, apple pie, coffee and kolaches. Mrs. Hanel points out that money earned at the carnival will be used to buy books and supplies for St. Anthony School.

New Dial System Working Smoothly, SWB Manager Says

"Everything has gone smoothly since the new dial system was put into operation," C. L. Carson, SW Bell Manager said today. "Very few dialing errors have been reported, and that means that Cameronites have done an excellent job in learning how to dial."

The Cameron exchange was converted to dial operation October 4. The switchover only took a couple of minutes, but the cut climaxed months of preparation.

The manager said that a few dialing errors were noticed immediately after the changeover, but that misdialed calls tapered off sharply after a short time.

"We want the new dial system to be as convenient and useful as possible," Carson said. "If you dial correctly it can be just that." Carson said that all residents of the area would be invited to an open house at the new building at 302 West First Street within the next few weeks.

Homecoming Spoiled By Bellville Win Of, 40-6

By Robert Mann
Herald Sports Editor

The Bellville Brahmas, taking advantage of Cameron fumbles, drove to a 40-6 victory over the Cameron Yoemen Friday night at Yoe Field. It was Cameron's sixth defeat in as many games.

Bellville scored midway through the first quarter following a Cameron fumble. The ball was carried 19 yards out where it was fumbled in the end zone for a TD with Joe Ed Lynn getting the credit. Ernie Koy's attempt to run the ball over for extra points failed.

Cameron took the kickoff return back to their own 26 where they drove to the Bellville 38.

The Brahmas took the ball and drove all the way back to Cameron's 33 where Joe Ed Lynn broke loose for 33 yards and another touchdown. Koy ran the two extra points over just after the second quarter got underway.

Bellville plunged over again a few minutes later after recovering a Cameron fumble on the 10. This time it was Koy that scored the touchdown. Bill Johnson failed in his run for extra points.

The third quarter marked the scoring of three touchdowns. Bobby Bartlett started things off by cutting around end for a 32 yard Bellville touchdown run. Joe Ed Lynn kicked good for the extra point.

A pass combination accounted for the next TD. Bartlett threw out to David Reid from 26 yards out. The run over for extra points didn't materialize.

Cameron rushed on their first and only score of the game 4 minutes before the third quarter ended. Ernest Bayer blocked a quick kick on Bellville's 15 and ran the ball back over the goal for paydirt. The runover attempt by Bayer failed.

The only TD in the last quarter was a pass from Bartlett to Reid for 6 yards. The kick by Keith Wienke was good making it 40-6, wrapping up the contest.

New Booklet
"Vertical Integration in Texas Agriculture - Vegetables" is the title of a new booklet just released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Experiment Station. The authors say an estimated 90 per cent of the vegetables produced for canning and freezing in the nation are now grown under some form of contract.

Chlorosis is a condition in plant which results when Chlorophyll (the green coloring matter in plants) fails to develop or is destroyed. Iron chlorosis normally appears in the young leaves. The leaves of chlorotic plants range from light green to yellow to almost white. Iron is necessary for the formation of chlorophyll. When iron is unavailable for plant use, chlorophyll fails to develop properly and plants exhibit chlorosis.

A new leaflet IRON CHLOROSIS, L-435 discusses what it is and its control. Suggested rates of materials for control are given. The leaflet may be obtained from the county agents office.

Redfish Due In Coast Water

By Vern Sanford

It's time for the redfish to begin moving into the back bays along the Texas coast.

There has been good red fishing all summer, but October is the month when it begins to improve appreciably, with some really big bull reds being hauled in.

From now until January, you can expect some real catches. November and December should be especially good.

Redfish come in two classes. You either get the bull reds, which run upwards of three pounds; or the rat reds, those that are below three pounds. But don't kid yourself that the rat reds aren't just as good to eat.

Bulls and rats alike will hit lures. But they love shrimp! Some fishermen who classify themselves as experts, will tell you that they had just as soon fish with dead shrimp as with live ones. I've tried 'em both. And I'll take the live shrimp any day.

However, I must admit that I like lures best of all - when they hit them.

One thing is for certain, however. While the reds like to feed on the flats, they know where the channels and reefs are located. Hook one in shallow water and he heads immediately for a reef. Unless you have a good wire leader, or hold its head pretty high, those sharp shells will cut your line - and away he goes.

Then there is another way of getting reds - if you just want them for the freezer. You can set out trotlines.

Occasionally, you'll get other than reds on trotlines, but most of them will be edible fish.

Go into any flat and you'll see hundreds of poles sticking out of the water. They have been put there by trotline fishermen. Hooks are baited with small strips of bright plastic, usually red or yellow, which dangle in the water. Reds, drum and trout take these lures. It is not uncommon to find several large reds on one short trotline - caught overnight.

While this gets meat for the table, it lacks the thrill of just plain sport fishing. It's lots more fun taking the reds by wading or by boats.

They go by boat to the flats where the reds feed. One man stands in the boat and scans the water surface until he sees the backs of the reds working in the shallow areas. Then the boat is moved quietly into that water and fast and furious fishing begins.

Here again you can use either shrimp or lures.

What is the best lure? That is hard to say. Generally, a spoon is hard to beat. But some fishermen prefer jigs. Others will toss a top-water plug into a school and bring back a red.

Fishing with shrimp can be done in several ways you can free shrimp, simply by placing a shrimp on your hook and tossing it among the reds to float around. Or you add a sinker and a popping cork.

Either way is good. Free shrimp is perhaps the most deadly of all salt-water fishing.
